

Improved Driving Practices Necessary For Reduction Of Automobile Accident Rate

Reduction of the automobile accident rate cannot be accomplished by improved driving practices and attitude and law enforcement must be directed primarily to that end, Howard M. Baker, traffic engineer of Montreal police department, said. As the result of the conclusion of the Good Roads Association, he urged consideration of traffic laws in general and speed laws in particular.

Although reckless, inefficient or dangerous driving was a factor in causing accidents, Mr. Baker said, the majority of persons involved in accidents were innocent, law-abiding citizens, driving competently and with reasonable caution. They were chargeable at worst with bad judgment rather than a fault in intent to perpetrate a crime.

Enforcement inflicted in a spirit of revenge defeated its aim and the police force of the community "It must seek to correct and educate. Suspension of licenses is a necessary measure, but a greater deterrent on error driving than almost any other punishment."

Conventions usually must be followed by punishment but the penalty should be neither annual nor unreasonable. Important, consistent and effective enforcement is the only way to reduce the accident rate.

"Where the human element is concerned, it is not so much the automobile as the driver," said J. B. Elliott, traffic engineer of the Montreal police. The amount of education or regulation would make every individual responsible to a certain extent.

The Ontario ministry of highways has announced a new campaign of education and enforcement to ease on conviction for speeding or recklessness causing accident. Motorists are being advised to drive more slowly and to avoid any criminal offense involving use of a motor car. The ministry is also advising motorists to drive at least 30,000 times in eight years.

Co-operation of the Ontario health department is enlisted in the campaign of insurance in hospitals to eliminate responsibility for accidents. The ministry is also in physical incapacitated persons.

Operate Large Farm

Colonization Finance Corporation Controlled Large Holdings

Ten people are now aware that the "Big Farm" is the largest of the largest farm management and service company in the world, said the president of the company, J. B. Elliott, who is also president of the Colonization Finance Corporation.

The company, which was formed in 1930, has been operating for three years and has been able to begin a western tour of inspection of farms supervised by the company's own inspectors.

The Colonization Finance Corporation, a subsidiary of the Canadian Pacific Railway under the same management, has been operating for three years and has been able to begin a western tour of inspection of farms supervised by the company's own inspectors.

Just Poor Imagination

Orchestra Men Are Paid Behind Bagpipes At Edinburgh Festival

Those "twing" orchestras which were so popular in the 1920s and 1930s can take a leaf out of the music book of the bagpipers. They have their bagpipers a lot of effort, states the Edinburgh Journal.

Bagpipers just cannot beat existing string music. It comes natural to them. They can produce notes which are as sweet as honey and most erratic (which seems to be the opinion of the public) as a beginning practicing "Hearts and Flowers". Their chamber is a primitive one. They have no drums and no other pipes carry drums and wood.

It may be that "twing" is just a subconscious attempt by the devotees to return to the music that has been heard from bagpipes for centuries. If heredity counts, for bagpipers are not the exclusive or even the property of Scotland. They are still popular in Poland, Italy, Greece, Ireland and the north and south of France.

There is one in all British patterns book published by the Edinburgh Journal.

He replied that he would set half a dozen children to work to find out what what really was, what it should be used for other than making food.

Mr. Ford then saw clearly what the Scottish people had been trying to tell him. He was going to see that Canada was getting more to the point of the music that has been heard from bagpipes for centuries.

The task of endeavoring to persuade people in Europe has been served squarely upon the shoulders of Great Britain, and surely has also borne the burden. However, much as she has done, much as she may do, the last word rests with the people of Europe. Now, more than in 1914 when it was claimed that Emperor Wilhelm II could, by a word, have avoided the outbreak of the war, upon the words of one who, by his decision, can condemn millions to death or misery.

What Canada will do if the fatal die is cast is yet another for conjecture. We do know that Parliament will be consulted. If and when the dread decision is made that Canada must stand or fall beside the people of the British Empire, Canadian soldiers shall be spared them—the intention of realizing that while their sons and brothers are suffering, others are killing up walls. There must be no more softening out of a national conscience.

DYING PLAGUE

The Bureau of Information of the Social Credit government has issued a pamphlet with the suggestive title, "Dying Plague." This precious piece of propaganda sets out to tell its readers "why" Acts of the first Social Credit government in the world have been disclosed; what happened to them; and what they would have done. It contains all the old lies, truths, and half-truths that are so dear to the hearts of the Social Creditists.

An instance of the latter is illustrated by a quoted text from the context of a Privy Council judgment, in which Lord Macmillan is quoted as holding: "The Alberta Government is a sovereign Legislature." This quote is, however, a distortion. The quote is, in fact, a distortion of the original. The quote is, in fact, a distortion of the original. The quote is, in fact, a distortion of the original.

What might have proved a serious accident occurred on Saturday evening when a car driven by F. Johnson, of the University of Alberta, was involved in a collision with a car driven by the late Ralph Connor. The car was wrecked and its windows shattered.

CAN WAR BE Averted?

To contrast the last session of the Alberta Legislature with the session of the last session of the Alberta Legislature, it is interesting to note that the session of the last session of the Alberta Legislature was a session of the last session of the Alberta Legislature.

TO GET MORE RYE FRUIT FROM TOMATOES

Lethbridge Experimental Station
Weekly Letter

The after ripening of green fruit is a process which is not understood in this district, and it is a good source of having tomatoes over a long period in the fall. The fruit does not color up as well as when it is more ripened, but regardless of the color gradient, it is appreciated long after the frost has killed the plants in the field.

Most of the Christmas time is not unusual where this seed is used. The green fruit may be spread out in a dry place to ripen or they may be wrapped in newspaper, or some other material, and placed in a cardboard box. The box is then put in a warm place. When the tomatoes are being handled it is well not to drop or bruise them, since bruised fruit rot very quickly.

The use of self-pollinating varieties, such as those of the Polar type, has become more common in recent years since these favorably produce ripe fruit regardless of the season. Most of these varieties produce large yields and are of good quality.

Most important, however, in the case of tomatoes in the Far West, is the fact that the seedling fruiting in Western Canada. The fact is, therefore, that the Family Herald and Weekly Star has secured every privilege to publish this book in its latest interesting new series, "Portrait to Adventure," as many admirers of the late Ralph Connor (Rev. C. W. Gordon) will know, is the last book he wrote, having been completed just before he died. ## SERVING A GREAT FIELD

From United Grain Growers' terminal at Port Arthur to that at Vancouver is over 1,800 miles. It is over a thousand miles in a straight line from the most easterly of the Company's elevators to the most westerly one. Its most southerly elevator is 600 miles further south than its most northerly elevator. It is a vast area which is served by this farmers' company. Because of the great area served, it has resources, equipment, organization and information enabling it to give every possible protection to the interests of its farmer customers.

Organized by farmers, owned by farmers, controlled by farmers, the Company's essential purpose is now, as it has always been, to be of service to farmers. The experience of farmers throughout the vast area served proves that this purpose has been carried out throughout the Company's history of more than thirty years.
